Logline

A person is being held hostage in a basement by an alien. It is later revealed that the victim is also an alien. The two aliens fall in love and all of this was a romantic session of roleplay. Of passion.

Characters

Victim - Is being held hostage

Masked Man - The kidnapper is secretly an alien. The alien is holding the victim for unknown and irrelevant reasons.

Synopsis

Victim is tied up in chair. They are awakened by a man in a mask standing over them. The masked man has a jar of mucousy eyeballs. He force-feeds the victim the eyes. The victim bumps the jar out of the masked man’s hands. The masked man gets mad and knocks the victim over. The masked man leaves to get something to clean the mess up, and the victim grabs a shard of glass and cuts his restraints. He is fighting the masked man, and rips his mask off in the process. The man is an alien. The victim is visibly shocked. He tears his human face off. The victim is also an alien. The aliens gaze into each other's eyes. They are in love.
